Projects

Our electronics wizards get plenty of challenges these days.

The latest was a Dolls house that needed a complete new set of lighting.

Alan Simpson loves a challenge, so after declaring the existing lighting unreparable

a completely new set of lighting was sourced and installed using his trusty soldering iron and a ton of patience.

Alan even used his 3D printer skills to produce some missing cabinetry.

Some little person (or maybe a big person with lots of memories ) will have many hours of fun, to look forward to
